

The Kegel Exercises: Aswani Mudra

This exhibition delves into the unsettling realities of late multicultural capitalism, where idealism gives way to the follies of recklessness and petulance. Through a powerful confluence of art and societal critique, it explores how the relentless pursuit of financialization morphs into a destructive force. The show demonstrates the use of stock market ticker and marble inlay as potent symbols.

Essay by Gitanjali Dang included.

Year: 2007